Kuehne + Nagel expands its regional network in Central Asia and in the Caucasus

- New legal entities and offices in Azerbaijan and Kazakhstan
- Primary focus on oil & gas and consumer goods
- Addressing a regional cluster of fast growing logistics markets

Moscow / RU, September 27, 2018 – In order to better serve the promising markets in Central Asia and in the Caucasus Kuehne + Nagel further strengthens its logistics network in the region.

Kuehne + Nagel recently opened legal entities and new offices in Baku (Azerbaijan) and in Almaty (Kazakhstan). Thereby, the logistics group is increasingly addressing two emerging countries, both of which show annual GDP growth rates of around four per cent as well as a rising demand in logistics services primarily in the oil & gas industry, in consumer goods and in integrated logistic projects.

Perry Neumann, President Cluster Russia + CIS and General Director of Kuehne + Nagel LLC, comments: “By continually expanding our logistics network we offer throughout the entire region an integrated service portfolio according to our highest quality standards to both local and international customers from all major industries. Particularly in Azerbaijan and Kazakhstan, our proven expertise in oil & gas and project logistics and our strong global network are best suited to meet the soaring market demand and provide comprehensive state-of-the-art solutions.”
