Kuehne+Nagel strengthens Asia growth with enhanced Less-than-Container Load solution in Thailand

- New, state-of-the-art, Container Freight Station in Bangkok
- Electric Vehicle transportation for all Less-than-Container Load pick-ups across Thailand

Bangkok / TH, March 11, 2025 – To support its growth ambitions in Asia, Kuehne+Nagel opens a new 2,800 sqm Container Freight Station (CFS) in Bangkok, Thailand, strategically located near Laem Chabang Port.

Laem Chabang, Thailand's largest deep-water port, is a vital gateway for international trade, particularly on the Asia-North America and Asia-Europe routes. By expanding its Less-than-Container Load (LCL) and integrated logistics capabilities in this location, Kuehne+Nagel aims to increase efficiency and lower the environmental impact of logistics operations. With the new CFS, Kuehne+Nagel provides faster and more efficient cargo consolidation and deconsolidation while the use of electric Vehicle (EV) transportation for all LCL pick-ups across Thailand reduces carbon emissions.

This investment aligns with the Port Authority of Thailand's (PAT) vision to transform all its ports into a smart, sustainable hub by 2030. By integrating EV transportation, Kuehne+Nagel is actively supporting PAT's carbon neutrality roadmap and broader infrastructure upgrades, contributing to the local development of Thailand.

"Laem Chabang Port plays a pivotal role in global trade and regional cargo distribution. As part of our Roadmap 2026, this investment reinforces Thailand's role as a key logistics hub while driving innovation and sustainability in the global supply chain," said David Roussiere, Managing Director of Kuehne+Nagel Thailand, Cambodia, and Myanmar.
